Rules:
1. Each team must consist of 8 individuals with no more than 2 members from the same chapter per team
2. Contestants must work together on the case and will be required to participate equally in the presentation to the panel of judges.
3. Research is allowed for gathering background information from printed or electronic media. Contestants may utilize books, articles, Internet resources, news stories, or journals
5. Visual aids, such as posters or handouts are acceptable for presentation before the judges. However, powerpoint presentations and overhead transparencies will NOT be allowed
6. Presentations must be limited to ten minutes. The judges will have up to five minutes for questions following the presentation. Teams will be assessed penalty points for going overtime.
7. A team may only attend the presentation of another team after they have done their presentation.
8. Each team member MUST wear their team t-shirt when competing in the case study competition

Criteria:
The panel of judges will evaluate each team on the following criteria:
* Completeness - Did the team examine all the relevant issues of the case?
* Creativity - How creative was the team recommendations to the case?
* Presentation - Did the team balance the responsibilities of the presentation?
* Clarity - How clear was the team in presenting the issues and solutions they recommend?
* Viability - Did the team present a viable approach to the case? Could their approach work in a real situation?

Point Breakdown:
1st place-500
2nd place-250
3rd place-100

Each team that participates will receive 50 points for participating in addition to any points received for winning. Each team member in attendance, other than those competing, will receive 2 points towards the team total.

Presentation:
Each team will report to Carleton Auditorium at 5:00 pm on March 1, 2007 to check-in at which time they will draw a random number to determine the order in which they will present. After drawing a number, each time will be allowed 45 minutes to finish preparing for their case study in a room in Little Hall. At 5:45 pm, each team must report back to Carleton Auditorium to begin the case study competition. The presentations will begin promptly at 6:00 pm. Presentations should be creative and clear addressing the following format: introduction of team and team members, overview of the ethical issues, any models or strategies that could be applied, and a recommended course of action. Teams should allow for questions from the judges at the end of their presentation.